About The Conference

Indian agriculture has come long way since the introduction of new agricultural technology in the mid sixties with food grain production increasing from 74 million tonnes in 1966-67 to 316 million tonnes in 2021-22 to 315 million tones. However Indian agriculture is facing problems due to rising input costs and falling agricultural prices leading to decrease in the profitability/returns and mounting indebtedness among agricultural households. These developments have made agriculture a less-remunerative enterprise obliging agricultural households to seek alternative sources of livelihoods. The ongoing sub-division and fragmentation of already small holdings have further compounded the problem of non viability of agriculture/cultivation as a livelihood option. This has led to a massive push of youth from agriculture irrespective of the non-availability of alternative job opportunities. The data brought out by situation assessment survey 2003 reveal that 40 per cent of agricultural households are willing to leave agriculture at the first available opportunity which is a stark manifestation of agriculture becoming increasingly non-viable. The need of the hour is to motivate, convince and retain youth in agriculture. This can be done by educating youths about the emerging scopes and avenues to practice non conventional agriculture and grow different crops which are ecologically compatible, environmentally sustainable and climate change resilient and their agro-economic practices to make agriculture an attractive commercial enterprise which affords them a decent level of living. In the current situation, there are four possible ways to increase the profitability of agriculture and thereby attract and retain youth in agriculture and allied sectors.

- ❖ Adoption of high value cash crop agriculture including fruits and vegetable crops.
- ❖ promotion of organic and natural farming in view of increasing demand for such products both in the domestic and international markets.
- ❖ Adoption of the cultivation of millets as these crops can withstand increasing weather uncertainties and can be grown on marginal lands under rain fed conditions.
- ❖ Encouraging the youth to adopt farm related enterprises such as dairy farming, mushroom, sericulture, poultry, beekeeping, natural dyes & fibers, fisheries, etc.

Objectives

- ❖ Educate, orient and motivate youths to take up alternative emerging commercial modes of agriculture as a profession/source of livelihood.
- ❖ Empower youth, farmers and agripreneurs and startups through skill development in the latest agricultural practices, capacity enhancement and providing hand holding support including market access.
- ❖ Provide a platform for sharing success stories of farmers, entrepreneurs, agri-entrepreneurs and startups engaged in organic farming, fruits and vegetable farming and in the cultivation and processing of millets and millet products.
- ❖ Document and share lessons learnt from the success stories and startups in the adoption and practicing of alternative modes of commercial agriculture.
- ❖ Explore the potential for initiating agri-business start-ups and setting up of incubation centers in organic and millets based products.
- ❖ Focus on traditional science, yoga & sanskar and local upliftment.
- ❖ Prepare a road map and draw a plan for different activities to promote and popularize startups in the cultivation of millets and organic and natural farming in mountainous states and other

Expected Outcomes

- ❖ Empowerment of youths as agripreneurs
- ❖ Documentation of success stories and lessons learnt
- ❖ Suggest road map for promoting agripreneurship and startups
- ❖ Promotion of start-ups in millets and millet products
- ❖ Policy interventions for a robust agripreneurship and startups eco-system

Awards

- ❖ Young Agripreneurship Leadership Award
- ❖ Best Oral Presentation Award
- * Best Poster Presentation Award
